5 Reading AfriCat

Read the text about the AfriCat Centre. Are sentences 1–8 true or false?

Africa's 'big cats' (cheetahs, leopards and lions) are in danger. The AfriCat Centre wants to help them. The centre is in Namibia in southwest Africa. There's a hospital for the animals, and there's an education centre too.

In Namibia the big cats are a problem because they sometimes kill farm animals. The farmers often try to catch them or kill them.

A lot of tourists go to Namibia because they want to see the big cats. Tourism is important for this part of Africa. This is another reason why AfriCat wants to protect the wild animals there.

Schoolchildren from all over Namibia visit the AfriCat Centre. They meet the cheetahs, leopards and lions and they learn about the importance of helping Africa's wildlife. They try to find an answer to the question 'How can the big cats and Namibia's farmers live together?'

- 1 Namibia is a country in southwest Africa. True.
- 2 In danger means 'dangerous'.
- 3 The people at AfriCat want to save Namibia's cheetahs, leopards and lions.
- 4 The people at AfriCat want to kill farm animals.
- 5 Namibia's big cats are a problem because they kill farmers.
- 6 The big cats aren't good for tourism.
- 7 The people at AfriCat meet a lot of Namibia's schoolchildren.
- 8 'How can the big cats and Namibia's farmers live together?' This is a difficult question.
